

A Promise

Earth Angels In Headsets

ONCE UPON A TIME, before time existed in a place some call Heaven, there were many gatherings to determine many things. The Angel Of Lifework was busy determining who would entertain, who would care for teeth, who would move the earth and the like. One decision was to determine which souls would be interested in caring for others. A group stepped forward and they were called Public Servants. Next the Angel Of Lifework called out for a certain number of this grouping that were interested in safety of others. This group was called Public Safety and they were praised for their bravery and willingness to risk human life for the love of others. A promise was made and then there was a great celebration.

Next The Angel of Lifework made a special announcement, "We are looking for a extraordinary grouping of individuals from the Public Safety assemblage for a special calling. This work is to Answer The Call of those in danger and need. To step forward you must know a few things. First, you must have the human equivalent of stronger wings to support others in their times of crisis and suffering. Next, you must have the capacity for patience, persistence and uncommon endurance. Your bravery must be absolute for you will never know what will be asked of you or when. And finally, you will be called upon to watch over and safeguard your brothers and sisters in Public Safety every moment."

Those souls with stronger wings quickly stepped forward, and there was a celebration of those who would Answer The Call. The Angel Of Lifework continued to speak in the deepest loving way. "You have all accepted this calling, a supreme blessing. Know that some of you will forget this day. Some of you will leave your calling. I will appoint some to remind the others, and some to lead, and some to teach." The Angel held up a great golden book, "Earth Angels in Headsets, every time you help another on the phones or radio, it will be recorded in this book. And one day each will be proclaimed and celebrated aloud for your return. And if I didn't tell you earlier, there's something called shift work and another thing called OT."

AND A PROMISE WAS MADE AND THERE WAS A WONDERFUL CELEBRATION.
